Rushing out on corner 7 á side

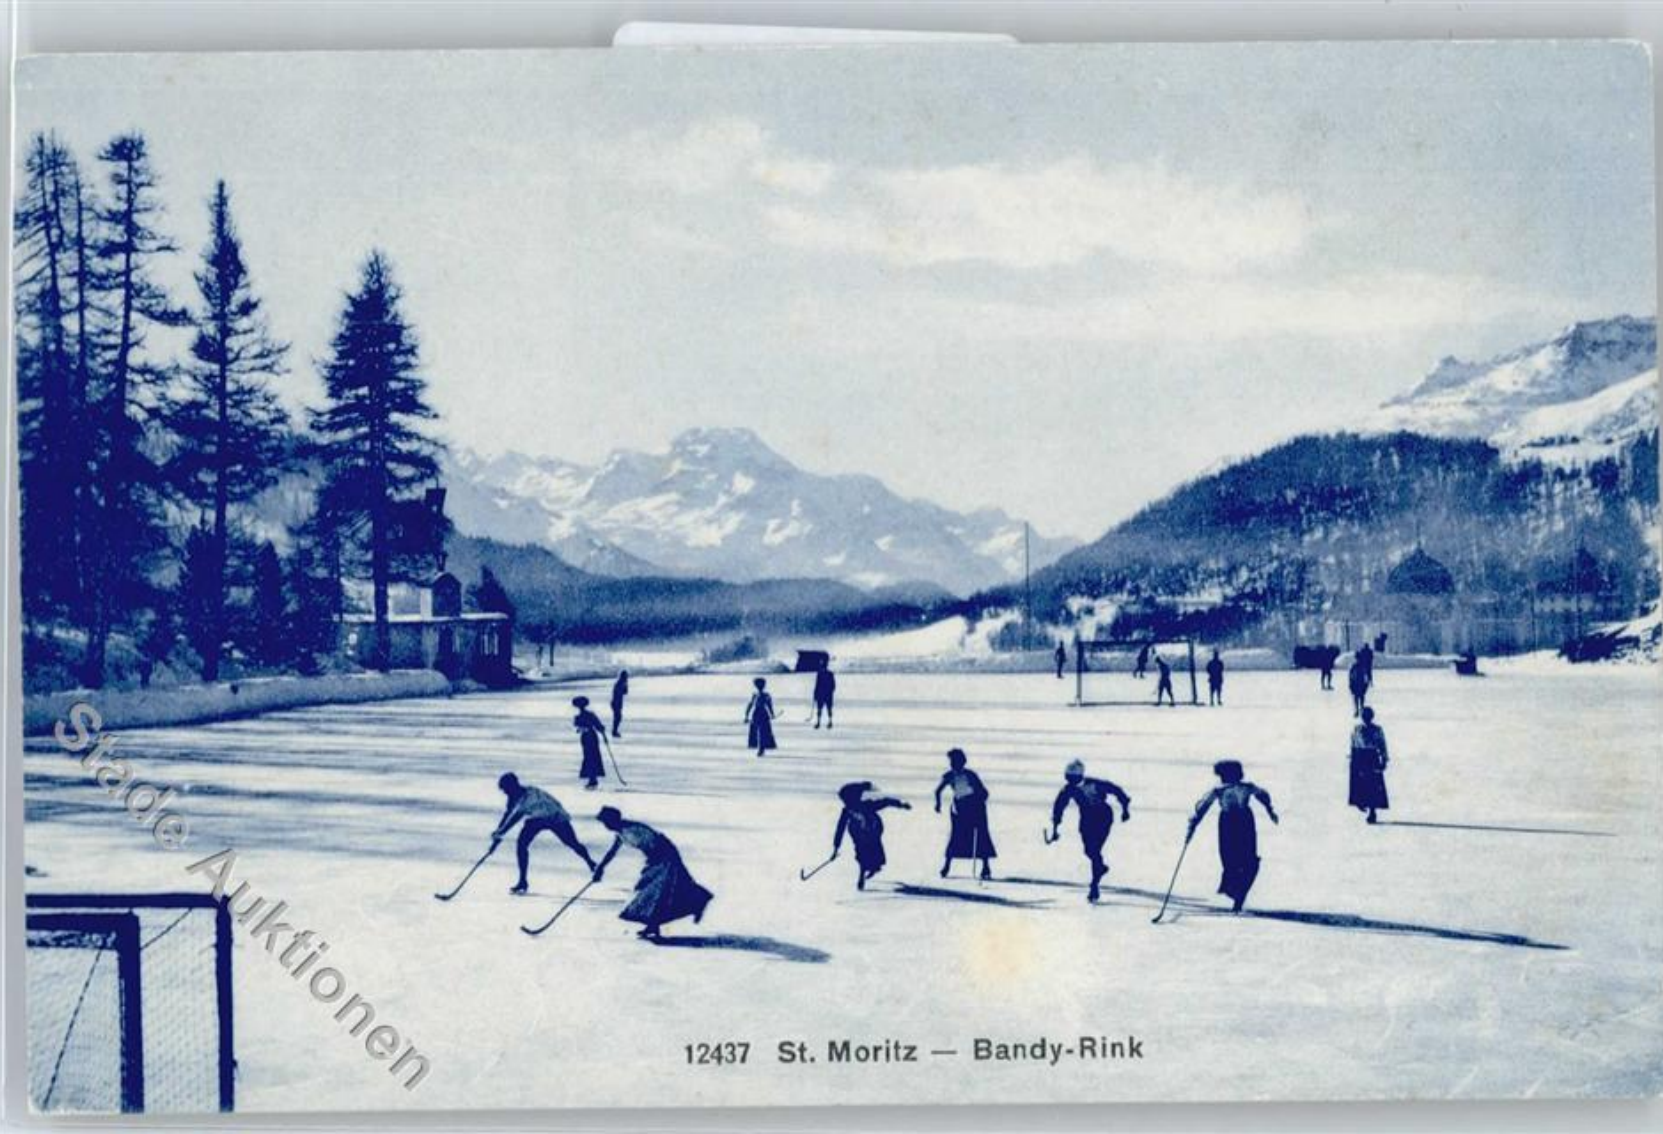

- Bandy is a very fast team sport on ice – with the skills of speed, technics, precision and tactics.
- Fair play and sportsmanship are important values. Bandy is also called hockey with ball and played 7 á side (60m x 40m) for children and 11 á side (100m x 60m) for youth and adults.
- The game is comparable to field hockey and soccer, but with skates. The field players use a bended stick (125cm or less) to hit the ball (63mm diam.). The goalkeeper use gloves to save the ball.
- Bandy is most played out-doors and is the next biggest winter sport in the world after ice hockey and precursor to ice hockey.
